BIA appears doomed as merchants refuse to withdraw names from opposing petition

The future of the Business Improvement Area (BIA) is rapidly fading for the Minden core following a meeting Wednesday evening.

At the gathering, held in the municipal offices, those who had signed a petition objecting to the program declined to withdraw their names from the document. Since more than one third of the businesses within the proposed BIA were represented on the petition it is highly unlikely the Ontario

Municipal Board will approve the formation of the organization.

Approximately 20 core merchants, including seven of the 19 who had signed the petition, attended the meeting.

The meeting had been called by the township council after the petition was received at the August 13 meeting. The petitioners objected to a number of aspects of the BIA.

Specifically the merchants were concerned about whether they would have a say in how much money would be borrowed to support the BIA and where the funds were to be spent. The petition called for specific plans to be laid out prior to the forming of a BIA.

Chairman of the meeting, Councillor Stuart Brandon, attempted to allay the concerns of the merchants. He told the meeting that before any money is borrowed the merchants will be able to approve the figure and a board of management, consisting of merchants and one representative from the township council will determine how and where the funds will be spent. "The board of management can be as small as five individuals or can include all 54 businesses within the BIA," Brandon explained.

Under the terms of the legislation, if a BIA is formed the organization can borrow up to $150,000 from the Ontario government to assist with downtown improvements, promotion or other activities to attract shoppers to the core area. The money would be made available over a period of up to ten years and would be repayable at an annual interest rate of one per cent.

One of the provisions of the BIA legislation calls for the community taking advantage of the plan to have an official plan. Minden does not have one, as Brandon pointed out. "There is a possibility that funds may not be made available to this community because we lack an official plan," Brandon told the meeting. However, he also noted that the council had applied to the Ministry of Housing for special consideration in this matter. No reply has yet been received.

Brandon described the BIA as, "basically a self-help program. There have been some misconceptions that the council is seeking to suck money out of the merchants to be thrown away on frivolous projects. There is no conspiracy. The council has made no plans to spend the money a BIA would obtain, if it did get money. That decision rests with the board of management." Brandon pointed out that a member of council is included on the board of management because the funds, if any, could be spent on municipal property.

The chairman noted that although the petition states that the undersigned were "conditionally" opposed to the formation of a BIA, one clause in the document, "Do you object to the forming of a BIA?" appeared to place the signers in opposition of the project.

"If those who have signed the petition agreed with that assessment of what was written in the petition then the BIA is dead," Brandon told the audience. He said the petition would be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board and since more than one-third of the businesses within the proposed area had objected, it would be unlikely that BIA by-law would be accepted. Brandon also pointed out that merchants in Minden would be unable to apply for the scheme until 1982 under the terms of the legislation.

Earl Palmer, one of those who had signed the petition, asked the chairman if there were grants available under the BIA program. Brandon responded that there wasn't, that the BIA was a self-help program in which the provincial government could advance a certain amount of monies to the organization. Brandon noted that if two-thirds of the merchants within the proposed area were in favour of the program, all merchants would have to participate.

"I like to feel that I can improve the appearance of my business as I am able to do so," Palmer said. "I don't like being told by 'big brother' what I must do and how much I must spend. Some businesses just can't afford the extra taxes which would be required to support a BIA," he stated.

Brandon reiterated that the amount of money, if any, to be borrowed would be determined by the business community. He noted that even if the BIA were formed and the maximum amount of money, $150,000, was borrowed, over the ten year repayment period it would have little impact since it was being spread over 54 businesses.

Palmer said that one plan discussed at an earlier meeting indicated a "fantastic figure" for garbage cans. "I hate to give anyone carte blanche control over my money," the businessman stated.

Keith Prior of the Minden Bake Shop questioned why the Village of Haliburton was receiving new sidewalks and streets when Minden's were in such rough shape. Brandon responded by pointing out that the main street in Haliburton was a provincial highway and the repaving was the responsibility of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Russ Paul from Minden Texaco pointed out that this summer he has seen a great deal of improvements in the downtown area of the village. He suggested the BIA proceed without the requirement that money be borrowed. "There seem to have been changes in the core area already with the fronts of buildings being spruced-up," he commented.

Brandon noted that there had already been three attempts to form a businessmen's association and all three had failed. "It is like flogging a dead horse," the councillor stated.

Brandon then asked if any of those present who had signed the petition were willing to withdraw their names. No one responded.

"The petition will now be sent to the OMB," Brandon told the meeting, "and it is likely the municipal board will reject the by-law to form the BIA." The chairman said the activities leading up to the formation of the BIA convinced him that there were merchants in Minden who are progressive and who want things to go ahead. "It is too bad there are some among us who can negate these efforts. I don't think the township council will consider becoming involved in such a program in the immediate future and I condemn those who are dragging Minden down."

With that emotionally charged statement Brandon abruptly declared the meeting closed. Several members of the audience attempted to challenge his statements, but the chairman reiterated that the meeting had closed and if they wished to speak to the merchants present they could do so over coffee in the outer room.

Don Hall of Floyd Hall Insurance said the condition of the core area of the community could not be blamed on the merchants. "Who was it who ripped up the streets and left them in the condition they are now?" Hall asked as the meeting broke up in confusion.

"That was a terribly rude way to end a meeting," one merchant was heard to comment. "He (the chairman) didn't even give anyone else a chance to respond."

Another merchant commented that Brandon was acting in that fashion because he did not get his way.

Immediately following the meeting Keith Prior commented, "If Brandon was referring to me when he was talking about merchants pulling down the community, he should think again. I just finished putting $8000 into the building where my restaurant is located and I don't even own the building. I think I deserve an apology from Brandon."

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, left, presents Minden Fire Chief William "Deac" Jackson with a certificate of appreciation for his 30 years of service to the community. Eldon Deacon, centre, also received a certificate for 30 years of volunteer service to the local brigade. The presentations were made at a special ceremony Sunday afternoon at the fire hall. MOE probes report of PCB barrel at dump

Officials of the Ontario Ministry of Environment have started an investigation into a report that steel barrels, which once contained a toxic substance, are being used to construct docks and rafts in Lutterworth Township.

The investigation was started following a report to the ministry on Friday that a barrel, with the letters 'PCB' on the side, was found at the Davis Lake dump in the southern portion of the township. On Thursday evening a similar report was made to the regular meeting of Lutterworth Township council by a citizen of the municipality. At that the initials on the barrel were identified as PVC.

Reg Williams, appearing before the council Thursday evening on another matter, reported that a chemical engineer, who he could not identify, had seen two green coloured barrels in or near Davis Lake with the letters 'PVC' marked on the side. The same engineer claims to have seen a similar barrel at the Davis Lake dumpsite.

The initials 'PVC' are commonly used to identify the toxic substance polyvinyl chloride used in the manufacture of plastic. PCB stands for polychlorinated biphenyl a poisonous pollutant.

Williams said that the public should be informed that certain metal barrels which have been used to hold toxic chemicals should not be used for dock or raft construction. He indicated that the barrels could contain amounts of dangerous chemicals that could harm the environment of the lake. "We have to make an effort to get this information across to the public," he told the councillors.

Williams said the engineer, who apparently resides outside of Lutterworth Township, retrieved the one barrel from the dump.

Reeve Ron Gambell said he could not understand how these barrels could have been taken from the factory where the chemicals are used.

"I don't know how it is happening," Williams stated, "but apparently some of the barrels are getting loose."

Councillors Bill Prentice and Bill Valentine urged Mr. Williams to contact the Ministry of the Environment authorities if he should see similar situations in the future.

A spokesman for the Environment Ministry, Frank Rheinolt said a senior investigator from the Gravenhurst office had been sent to Lutterworth Township to take samples from the barrel taken from the dump. Rheinolt said that if the barrel did in fact contain PCBs at one time, it could be a very serious matter. He said he was not qualified to comment on the toxicity of the substance of PVC, but indicated there would be less immediate concern if the barrel did at one time contain that substance.

Rheinolt said the ministry had specific controls for disposal of barrels that once held toxic chemicals and that these containers certainly shouldn't be used for dock or raft construction. The spokesman said that his office had not experienced any problems with people using discarded barrels which once contained dangerous chemicals.

"This should not be a problem in this area with the controls that are placed on the disposal of these containers," he commented.

The spokesman said the ministry would be very interested in knowing where

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

When 19 Minden Business men "killed" the Business Improvement Area program planned for the town last week, it is to be hoped that they had some alternative in mind. By law, it will now be two years before such a program may be considered again and the individuals who worked so hard towards the project that has now been rejected are not likely to attempt it again themselves.

The Chamber, through a Ministry of Housing employment program carried out two consumer surveys, one last summer, and one the summer before. Both of these surveys pointed out very strongly one particular point—that cottagers and visitors will gladly shop locally if we make it convenient and pleasant for them to do so. Prices were of minor concern as long as they were competitive. With this in mind it was certainly a very wise decision, by those that initiated it, to attempt to create a Business Improvement Area for Minden. The Chamber this summer delegated two students to the task of collecting data on what priorities were in the minds of the affected business operators so that the board of management could effectively plan the projects to be undertaken. Out of 44 businesses in the designated area only 24 actually filled out the survey. While some very pointedly refused to participate, for many it was just a question of apathy and lack of interest.

A lot of effort, including 3 summers of doing surveys, have now gone for naught. It is only slightly encouraging to hear that some isolated improvements may take place among neighboring businesses, because of course this cannot have the same impact as the whole town working together.

John Pentney of Minden Home Hardware said, "I would like to see a B.I.A. in Minden simply as a way of saying thank-you to all the people who shop here regularly. They deserve more than we are offering them now." There are others in Minden who have excellent attitudes such as John's and it is most unfortunate that their effect has been stifled by this major set back.

Apathy

Apathy has a lot going for it. It is easy to catch and is painless. You can ignore it and nothing happens. The stronger it gets the less you feel you need to do about it. It becomes most noticeable when it begins to spread over a large area. When it does, the individual usually feels it belongs to someone else. Another appealing thing about apathy is the warm glow of nothingness it gives.

The temptation is to leave it alone and it will go away. With this attitude it may stay. Apathy demands a special treatment for it will not go away alone. The treatment starts with a good dose of involvement followed by long periods of action. It may be hard to get a confirmed apathetic to take the cure. And then it isn't permanent. Action must be rewarded while apathy is to be condemned. Since it is easier to condemn than to praise, it stands to reason that apathy is here to stay. It is needed by those who would rather condemn than act. Apathy has a lot going for it, but action is more fun. It must be. Have you ever heard anyone say, "Let's go where the apathy is?"

Junior Hockey Program

Haliburton's new entry into Junior C hockey this year is preparing to publish 5,000 programs which will be distributed at all the Huskie home games free of charge. Bob Nichols and Wayne Woods are now soliciting advertising for the program and would appreciate hearing from anyone interested in participating.

Lorraine returns to Canada following a year in Europe

Lorraine Perry has returned home to Ingoldsby after spending a year in Europe as the Minden area participant in the Rotary International student exchange program. She arrived back in Canada August 12 after spending more than 12 months with various families in Belgium.

(During the past year Lorraine became familiar to Times readers through the letters she sent home. The Times published excerpts from those letters, thereby sharing the excitement and adventures she was enjoying during her year overseas.)

Lorraine's last few months in Europe were a hectic round of visiting with families and friends of the local Rotary Club. She spent a part of the month of June camping and travelling by car through southern France. She visited the famous Riviera on the Mediterranean coast and travelled along the Loire Valley in France.

Her travels also took her to Switzerland where she had an opportunity to see the Alps.

The month of July was spent in the Bretagne region of France where, along with her European family, she shared a cottage on the Atlantic coast.

Did she enjoy her year overseas? "You bet I did", she commented enthusiastically. "I think the best indication of how much I enjoyed the experience is to say that I would be eager to do it again."

Lorraine notes that she already misses the many friends and acquaintances she acquired while overseas.

By interesting coincidence Lorraine stayed for part of the time with the parents of an exchange student who spent the past year in Minden, Jean Paul Dispeaux. Before she returned home she had an opportunity to talk with Jean Paul. "He is extremely pleased with his year in Minden was was excitedly telling everyone about what had taken place while here. He asked me to say 'hello' to everyone," Lorraine commented.

The year overseas has instilled an urge to travel in Lorraine. This September she will return to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to complete grade 12 and 13 courses. "But once high school is finished I would like to do some more travelling," she said. "I'd like to get back to Europe and see more of Canada."

In contrasting the lifestyles of Canada and Belgium Lorraine noted that there was little truly wild country in the small European nation. "I think we sometimes take the ruggedness and beauty of Canada for granted." She noted that those areas which are still in their natural state in Belgium are well protected and looked after. "People were amazed when I told them about watching beaver working in a lake or seeing deer and bear at the side of the road. Those sort of things just don't happen in Belgium."

While in Belgium Lorraine of course had to learn a new language. She now has a thorough grounding in French and, for those who have an opportunity to talk to her, they will notice a slight accent in her style and manner of speaking that betrays her total immersion in another language.

Asked to comment on the worst part of her overseas experience Lorraine said it was the trip home. "Once I said my final goodbyes to everyone in Europe and boarded the plane, I wanted to be home. It seemed the flight took hours. The plane just couldn't go fast enough to suit me," she commented.

Lorraine feels her experience overseas has broadened her outlook on the world. "I think my year in Belgium changed the way I look at the world. I feel I have grown up a great deal in that time."

A good friend of Lorraine's, Lee Potter, is the new exchange student from the Minden area. She left before Lorraine returned, taking up residence in Mexico. Lee will be keeping readers informed on her activities south of the border in much the same manner as Lorraine did. Lee has agreed to include The Times on her mailings from Mexico.

Lorraine Perry, Ingoldsby high school student, has returned from a year in Belgium. She travelled overseas as part of the student exchange program sponsored by the Rotary International and the Minden Rotary Club.

Editorial

A lost opportunity

There is nothing more independent than an independent businessperson.

That truism was proved Wednesday evening at the Anson, Hindon and Minden township offices as local merchants met in an attempt to iron out the differences between those on opposing sides of the Business Improvement Area proposal. The seven merchants attending, who had signed the petition, refused to withdraw their names from the document, and, according to the chairman, it will be another two years before the merchants can apply again for the program.

While at times there is value in standing alone, we also think there are benefits to be gained when individuals act as a group. This was one of those times.

The BIA, even in its simplest form, and without collecting or borrowing money, provided a vehicle through which the promotion of Minden's core commercial area could be carried out. It provided a focus and structure for a group that could and must lobby the local council for improvements in the downtown. Who speaks for Minden core area merchants now? No one.

What we find most disturbing about the results of the meeting Wednesday is not that the BIA was probably laid to rest as far as this community is concerned. Rather we are disheartened by the negative attitude this petition represents. No one offered an alternative and only one speaker, other than the chairman, suggested there could be value in businesses within an area forming an association for joint promotion efforts.

Given the disappointing history of efforts to form any sort of business association in this community, it will no doubt be a long time before anyone else invests the time and energy needed to get one going and that is too bad. It is bad because the community as a whole will suffer, consumers will suffer and those merchants who didn't sign the petition, those individuals who were willing to put some effort behind promoting Minden, must also suffer.

One need look no further than Haliburton Village and the fine paving and park projects underway there to realize that the competition for the consumer dollar will be keen in the next few years. For those who cry about the present state of the economy, we point out that it is exactly at a time when dollars are scarcest that the greatest effort must be made to promote an area.

The BIA offered Minden merchants an opportunity to show they were seriously concerned about the future of the core area of this community. That opportunity now appears lost and that is a shame.

In his column "Stanhope Notes" of July 16, 1980, Alex Stevenson comments on a rumoured remark made at the Boshkung Lake Cottagers Association meeting on June 28, 1980 to the effect that the Stanhope Volunteer Fire Brigade might respond to a fire call with as few as three men.

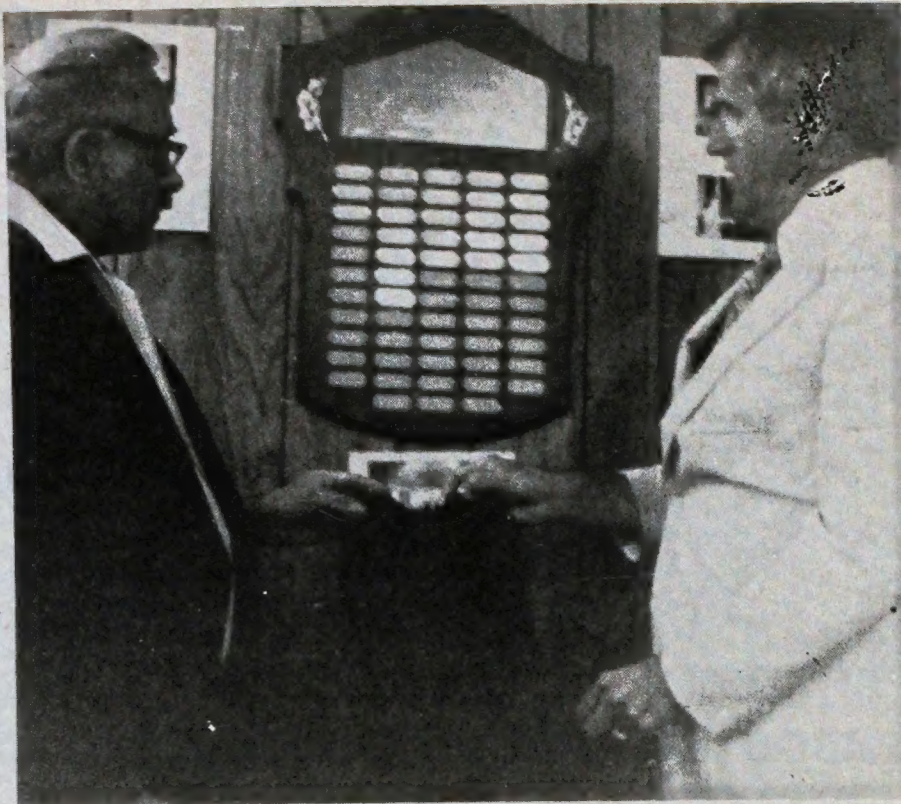

I wish to categorically deny that Councillor Elvin Johnson made such a statement at our meeting.

A member asked the direct question "Do we really have a fire brigade in Stanhope Township?" As chairman I asked Councillor Johnson to reply. The minutes of the meeting record his response: he stated that Stanhope did have an adequate fire brigade and that at least three of its members had taken their training along with him on the original brigade.

We appreciate Reeve Harrison's concern with this rumour and accept his assurance that at least 6 men are always available.

The plaque is dedicated to the memory of Ern Hewitt, the first fire chief of the Minden volunteer brigade. The plaque lists the names of those who had served the department as chief, deputy chief and officers. The unveiling took place Sunday afternoon at a special ceremony attended by members of the Hewitt family, firemen and their families.

Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Usually when we think of caribou, we think of vast herds of those antlered animals plodding across the tundra, providing a food source for northern natives. But a different sub-species of caribou, much less well known, inhabits scattered pockets of the spruce and jack pine woodlands of northern Ontario. A fleeting glimpse of this woodland caribou, as it is appropriately known, is the highlight of any wilderness trip.

Woodland caribou are large deer-like animals with long legs, occasionally reaching a weight of 500 pounds. With long whitish neck hairs, a grey-brown coat, and a white rump patch, an adult caribou is an impressive sight. Both males and females bear antlers from spring until early winter, but it is the magnificent branched antlers of the bulls, with characteristic flat plates above the forehead, that most readily identify the species.

Sport hunting of caribou is not permitted in Ontario, with good reason, for their numbers are severely depleted. Scattered pockets of woodland caribou, often with no more than a dozen animals, continue to hang on in suitable habitat, but the pressures of civilization bear heavily on these creatures. Caribou depend almost solely for winter food on the lichens growing on rocks and trees of mature forests. A logging operation or a fire, which renews the forest and improves the habitat for some large animals such as moose, effectively destroys caribou habitat for at least 30 years.

The scattered bands of Ontario woodland caribou which still persist are found largely in areas not yet touched by loggers, and where convenient islands provide shelter from predators and disturbance during the critical spring calving periods. Because of their splayed hooves and buoyant guard hairs, caribou are strong swimmers, and water is no barrier to their travels.

But unless we set aside large tracts of suitable habitat free from the demands of the forest industry, the real barriers of clearcuts and roadways will spell an uncertain future for one of Ontario's most fascinating large animals.

The Directors of Soyers Lake Ratepayers' Association wish to publicly thank the editor and publisher of The Times for the comprehensive and objective reporting of our presentation to the Minden Council on July 23 and the actions of council on August 13. We wish to express a special vote of appreciation for the support expressed through your excellent editorial "A reasoned approach" which appeared in the August 20 edition of your newspaper.

It was truly gratifying to see our position clearly, correctly and concisely set out in your editorial. We pray that each and every member of council has read your statement, and we firmly believe that if they reflect on the concerns expressed during our presentation and review the arguments set forth in support of our position, they will vote to support the resolution made on July 23. The suggestion that Council may reverse their resolution is incomprehensible. Surely the present 120 residents and property owners deserve the support of their council in a matter which affects them so directly.

We are not opposed to development per se; but we are opposed to excessive development in any one area, and we are unalterably opposed to the present 100 foot minimum lot size. If every foot of presently undeveloped lakeshore frontage was to be developed on the basis as the plan proposed by Couchiching Real Estate Soyers Lake would be totally destroyed. There is no valid reason why the present "minimum" lot size permitted under the existing zoning by-law should be interpreted as the "desired norm" for Soyers Lake.

The situation confronting Council is really quite simple. On one hand there is a developer who has invested all of $35,000 cash (according to Registry Office records) and wants the maximum number of lots (and we assume the maximum profit) and will not have to live with any problems that are created. On the other hand there are 120 present property owners (some of whom have been on the lake for over 50 years) whose investment is in the millions of dollars (and tons of sweat and tears) They wish to maintain reasonable densities and all the good environmental qualities that go therewith. These people will have to live with all the problems that are created by the subdivision.

Not just an ordinary day

by Sue Scott

Thursdays may seem like any other day for most people but for a certain group of youngsters, Thursdays are special.

Since June, a day camp, under the authorization of the Haliburton County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, is held on the property owned by the Brownvale school in Carnarvon.

Twenty-four children between the ages of seven and twelve are taking part in the summer program this year.

Tall Pines was a perfect name for the camp because of the majestic pines encircling the spacious play area and school buildings.

On a recent visit, Ernie Warder, who initiated the camp idea and Gerry Feltham, camp supervisor, explained how they began and some of the reasoning behind the project.

The camp's activities include academic studies like mathematics and writing but in a different vein, craft work and sports and games help to diminish the idea of a school atmosphere for the children.

The basic difficulties the children have involve remembering and retaining information over a long period of time.

In addition, motor activities and coordination are slight problems. Feltham said the sports and other recreational activities were designed to improve the motor skills of the youngsters.

The fundamental purpose, says Warder, is to bring the children along in the summer and maintain that level until school begins again in September.

"It takes about three months after they get back in September to have them reach the level they had reached in June," explained Warder.

She is a special education teacher at Archie Stouffer school in Minden and Feltham, teaches at Haliburton High School. They are assisted by some talented and dedicated volunteers who give their time willingly whenever they can. Some of the people got involved because their own children or friends' children were having problems.

The success of the camp in such a short time has been surprising, but is encouraging.

Feltham said they had estimated about eight children would attend but he commented they were extremely pleased when such a large number turned up.

Each week a different theme is designated so that a variety of skills and knowledge can be acquired.

On this particular day, the activities were centred around an Indian theme. One volunteer showed the children how to make different leather crafts.

The youngsters are divided into groups to participate in the various events so that while one group is working on crafts outside, another is in one of the classrooms reading or doing math problems. Still another may be working on the pottery wheel, creating all sorts of items.

A very special treat is in store for one group though. These children get to prepare and cook lunch for the rest of the camp. The responsibility rotates each week so each group gets involved.

This means deciding what to have and what ingredients are needed.

The choice for the day was pizza and everyone got to help in some way.

One of the volunteers was responsible for the dough, which had already been prepared. He divided it into four sections and gave each section to three or four children to flatten onto the sheets.

All the trimmings, thick tomato sauce, cheese, mushrooms and sliced hot dogs were tossed on.

The volunteers tried to keep the children occupied while the pizza was cooking by having them play a floor hockey game. Never was there a minute in which the children were not doing something.

After lunch, it was sing-song time. This is somewhat of a ritual and the children look forward to it.

They have their favourites but a few new tunes, which are printed on large sheets of paper and taped to an easel for the children to read the words, are also incorporated.

Then, it was back to group work before ending the day with swimming, the undisputed highlight for everyone.

Both Feltham and Warder commented on the positive

These children concentrate on their leather-craft work.

co-operation which they have received from both parents and volunteers.

The Haliburton Board of Education has also been of great help, donating some of the art supplies and physical education equipment for Tall Pines.

The only cost to the parents is the $10 per child to cover their meals.

Next year, said Feltham, they hope to get a grant to hire some high school students to work with the children. This decision will depend largely on the children's improvement in the fall.

The day's program runs pretty smoothly with each group getting a chance at each activity.

But, flexibility is the key. If they get sidetracked or slightly off schedule, no fuss is made. Warder also pointed out that if one day a child couldn't come or didn't feel like coming, they didn't have to although most days all the children have been present which is obviously a good sign.

The idea is for the children to have fun while they are learning and because no text books are used, the youngsters fell less like they are in school.

One important observation was that the youngsters responded well to the volunteers and were eager to learn.

While walking around the grounds, Feltham said the surroundings were ideal for their purposes.

The large field provided enough room for the children to run around, a change of pace from indoor activities.

The six week program will hopefully have helped the children.

As Warder observed, it should be interesting to see the progress reports in the fall.

One of the volunteers, Nancy Picard, leads the children in the afternoon sing-song.

Hustlers into finals

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers have advanced to the finals in the Tri-County baseball league.

The team easily defeated the Lindsay New Royal Jets in two games to take the semi-final series.

The first win for the squad came last Wednesday in Minden as they downed Lindsay 4-2. Jack Snell was the winning pitcher in that game.

Sunday evening in Lindsay, the Hustlers clinched the semi-final series by defeating their hosts 8-3. Craig Stamp was the winning pitcher. Bobby Johnson hit a home run for the Minden team. The squad was able to capture four runs in the first inning and maintained that lead throughout the contest.

The Hustlers are now waiting for the winner of the Woodville-Lindsay Jr. series to be decided, before starting the championship round.

Barry Shaw of the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers rushes toward first base during the opening game of the semi-final series against the Lindsay Seniors. The Hustlers went on to take the best of three play-offs in two straight games.

Skaters need your support

The Minden Figure Skating Club is holding a general meeting on Tuesday, September 9 at the municipal building at 8 p.m.

The Minden Figure Skating Club was formed in 1948. The Club became a sanctioned member of the Canadian Figure Skating Association in 1950. The Club was formed by an ambitious group of parents who felt it was an important part in the development of their children. Over the years it has continued for the same basic reason. Skating helps teach muscle co-ordination, balance, poise, and self confidence. The skating club maintains a standard of skating that all children can participate in.

Club fees have remained the same for at least the past six years. Costs for ice time and skating teacher fees have increased. In recent years the registration of skaters has declined. Participation of parents at our fund raising efforts have also declined.

The winter skating season is from November 1 to March 31 according to C.F.S.A. rules. The Minden skating membership is $35.00 for Juniors and $50.00 for Intermediates and Seniors. C.F.S.A. membership is an additional $5.00 per member. There are 40 to 45 skating sessions per season.

In the interest of the skaters for this year and the future of the skating club your attendance at this meeting is of utmost importance.

MOE investigation

the barrels came from if indeed they did contain the substances mentioned in the report.

Late report

In a report late Tuesday afternoon a representative of the Ministry of the Environment said he had examined the barrel retrieved from the dump. Ted Heally stated that the barrel was in very old condition and it was hard to decipher the writing on the side of the container.

The MOE official refused to say whether the lettering on the side of the container said "PCB" or "PVC". He said the deteriorated condition of the outside of the barrel made it difficult to read the lettering. Heally did note however there was a Montreal address on the side of the barrel.

He also reported that the access holes were sealed tight with rust and that it would take some effort to gain access to the interior. He said there was a liquid material in the container but refused to speculate on what it was.

"All I can say for sure is that it is a very old barrel that has been around for a long time," Heally said. He expects to have a report on the contents of the barrel sometime next week.

Staff prepare for new school year

September 2 is rapidly approaching and for hundreds of elementary and high school students, it means back to school.

Of the eight schools throughout Haliburton County, five were contacted to comment on the new school year's programs. Unfortunately, three schools, Cardiff, Wilberforce and Victoria St. Public Schools could not be reached.

In Minden, Stuart Baker will return as principal of Archie Stouffer Elementary with McKay Brydon as vice principal.

As far as student enrolment is concerned, Brydon estimated the number would be about 430 but said "We have had a few additions already but we know of some children who are leaving so we pretty well end up with what we started because the two balance each other".

There won't be a change in the number of teachers this year. Brydon said they will have 20 on staff.

Basically the same programs and activities are planned.

Haliburton Senior Elementary

At Haliburton Senior Elementary, principal Doug Devolin said that last year's student enrolment of 500 could be matched this year but will likely fall a little short, to somewhere between 480 and 495.

One new teacher is being added this year. Devolin explained that she taught in the county previously but was reluctant to give out the name of the new teacher.

Special education program will continue with four or five teachers in charge.

Most of the other courses will continue as scheduled and Devolin said, "The details may change because the students are different each year and adaptations might be needed."

HHSS

Brian Mosgrove, principal at Haliburton High School said he hopes last year's enrolment of 623 students will hold up for this year but with registration next week that number could increase.

A new teacher in the technical studies department will be Robert Jackson from Scarborough, said Mosgrove. There will be 38 full time teachers and two part-time teachers this year.

In addition, two new courses will be added to the curriculum. The first, a history course called 'People and Politics' will be an option course for Grade 12.

Budding writers in Grades 11 and 12 will also be able to take a creative writing course in the coming year.

Music and sports activities will continue, said Mosgrove, with the accent on participation in these areas by as many students as possible to get everyone involved.

Dorset

Dorset Public School's principal, Gareth Kellett estimated student enrolment at about 50 with a staff of four teachers for the year.

Programs and activities will continue as planned with no new changes in the offing.

Gooderham

Christine Bailey, principal at Gooderham Public School says their school will be trying something new in October.

Parent volunteers will be coming in to help children with math, reading and physical activities. This plan is similar to Victoria St. Public School's program in Haliburton.

This is being done because some of the grades are being integrated. Those children who need extra help with their work will now receive it.

Mrs. Bailey said the details have not been finalized but she hopes they will be in September.

A staff of two teachers and a student population of 40 from Kintergarden to grade 4 is expected, said Bailey.

Auto destroyed by blaze

A 16 year old Newmarket youth escaped injury but his car was totally destroyed by flames after an accident last Saturday.

Douglas C. Thompson was driving a 1979 car west on Highway 121, east of the north junction of Highway 35.

He failed to negotiate a curve, the right wheels drove onto the shoulder and the car went into the ditch, striking a culvert.

The vehicle immediately burst into flames.

Constable Gary Chapman investigated and reported the time of the accident was 11:45 p.m.

Stolen car

A stolen vehicle was involved in an accident on Bethel Church Road, Sunday. The mishap caused $4,000 damage to the car.

The unknown driver was travelling west in a 1979 car when he or she lost control on a curve, drove off the right side of the road and struck a rock. It then rolled down a hill and finally came to rest on its right side.

Constable Gary Chapman investigated. The accident occurred on August 24 at 10:10 p.m.

Police report the car was stolen from a cottage on Horseshoe Lake.

In addition, due to the severity of the damage to the car, the OPP believe the driver suffered chest injuries as a result of the accident.

Anyone having any information which would assist in the investigation is asked to contact the Minden OPP.

$1,000 damage

A bus sustained $1000 damage when it went into a ditch and rolled over August 22, north of Haliburton Village.

Philip J. Adams, 16, of Toronto was driving the 1969 Ford south on Little Kennis Lake Road last Friday about 12:30 p.m. when he hit the soft edge of the roadway.

Constable Weldon Popp was the investigating officer.

Misses animal, hits rock

A driver trying to avoid hitting an animal on the road had $4500 damage done to his car when it went off the road into some rocks.

Daniel J. Langlois, 24, of Etobicoke was driving a 1980 car north on Duck Lake Road when he swerved to avoid the animal and his left front wheel went off the left side of the road striking an embankment.

The wheel collapsed and the car continued down a hill over some rocks.

The incident occurred last Friday at 9:30 p.m. Constable Gary Chapman investigated.

More rocks

A 56 year old Willowdale woman's car had $1000 damage done to it when it went into a ditch and hit a rock.

On Saturday, Marion J. Bolton was driving a 1975 car north on Pigeon Lake Road when she noticed a tree had fallen over the southbound lane.

She saw a car approaching from the south and Bolton drove to the right causing her right wheel to sink into the shoulder.

The time of the accident was 2 p.m. Constable Dennis Potter investigated.

The spruce budworm returns

After a welcome lull of several years, the spruce budworm has re-invaded the Algonquin Region of Ontario.

Extensive damage throughout the Region was first noted in 1979, and this year, damage has become even more widespread. Federal insect and disease technicians have just completed their damage surveys, and in the Algonquin Region, the budworm caused moderate to severe feeding damage to its prime hosts, balsam fir and white spruce, over an area of 2.3 million acres.

The largest outbreaks are in Parry Sound (569,000 acres), Algonquin Park (493,000 acres). Bancroft has 346,000 acres of damage, and Minden, 332,000 acres. The Algonquin Region outbreak is part of a massive infestation in northern Ontario, which started in 1967, and now covers all of northeastern Ontario from Geraldton to the Quebec border.

In the Algonquin Region, the Minister of Natural Resources does not conduct programs to control the budworm unless it is infesting forests of particularly high value. In general, the prime host of the budworm, balsam fir, comprises only about 3% of the forest volume and is of low commercial value. Therefore control programs to protect such low value trees from budworm are not justified.

However, in certain high value forests where balsam and spruce are predominant, the Ministry does conduct spraying programs to protect these selected forests. Without protection, these forests would be killed by the budworm. Generally, 4-5 years of infestation will kill balsam fir, whereas spruce can usually withstand 8-10 years of feeding before succumbing.

On private property where balsam and spruce trees are particularly valuable to the owner, spraying programs can be successfully conducted to prevent serious feeding damage by the budworm.

It should be emphasized that spraying programs may be effective for only one year, however.

The current outbreak is so extensive that the forest may be re-infested after spraying by moths which disperse during July to lay their eggs. Thus it may be necessary to spray annually as long as the outbreak persists, depending on whether the forest has been re-invaded by moths.

Larger properties can be sprayed by small aircraft, normally used to treat agricultural land. A number of insecticides are available for budworm control.

In situations, where balsam fir is the important tree species, a bacterial insecticide (containing the bacterium Bacillus Thuringiensis) is very effective and is not hazardous to the environment or human health. However, where spruce is to be protected, a chemical insecticide should be used to achieve good results.

Property owners interested in protecting their forests from spruce budworm during the current outbreak are advised to band together and hire an aerial spraying company to treat their properties in 1981. Costs for aerial spraying generally range from $5 to $10/acre depending on how many acres are to be treated.

Property owners should request bids from 2 or 3 sprayers. Although MNR does not conduct spraying programs on private land, owners interested in having their properties sprayed may contact the Ministry district office for information on aerial spraying companies, recommended insecticides, and timing of applications. (Prepared by the Ministry of Natural Resources)

New cables to upgrade rural telephone service

Dig they must, and digging is certainly what they are doing as Bell Telephone upgrades its services to the rural area around Minden.

The work began earlier this summer and is expected to be completed in about two weeks. During that time men and machines have been tearing up a thin strip of ground along the shoulder of highways and streets to facilitate the installation of a new underground conduit system.

According to Bell engineer Glen Kennedy of Peterborough, the work being carried out in the Minden area represents an investment of close to $3,000,000.

It is being done in response to an order from the Canadian Radio Television-Telecommunications Commission in Ottawa. The phone company was instructed by the federal agency to reduce the number of parties on a multiple use line (party line) to four or less. Kennedy notes that in some rural areas around Minden upwards of ten homes share a single line.

In order to facilitate this reduction in the number of homes on one party line, the company has had to install a large number of new cables leading from the rural areas to the central switching station located in Minden. The company is placing most of these new lines within the Village of Minden, in underground plastic pipes. It is the installation of these plastic conduits which has necessitated the excavation.

In some areas the company is installing more conduits than it presently needs, hoping that in the future as demand for telephone service grows, there will be no need to undertake such a massive program of excavation. At that time it will be simply a matter of running new lines through the empty or partially used conduits to meet the need.

The construction phase of the work is expected to be completed by early September. At that time linemen will move in to install the cables underground. This phase of the work is expected to be completed by May of next year.

The program is one of a number taking place in various parts of Ontario in an effort to improve rural service.

Kennedy also reports that in some locations modern technology is being used to improve local service. He said a digital transmission system, in which some calls will be routed through switching stations other than the one in Minden will be used. He noted that in some cases one pair of wires will be used to carry up to 100 telephone conversations at one time. The sophisticated equipment keeps the various conversations separate by identifying the frequency of a caller's voice.

One of the major projects of the current work will be an attempt to tunnel under the Gull River at St. Germaine Street for the installation of the conduit. Kennedy points out that going under the riverbed was faster and required less red tape than attempting to gain permission to lay a cable across the bottom of the river. The digging of the hole under the Gull River is expected to be completed this week.

And, for the next few weeks, as construction crews complete the work, drivers and those on foot will have to be alert for detours and work areas as the crews attempt to finish the job.

Police find chemical cache

A large cache of chemicals which could have been used for the manufacture of methamphetamines (speed) has been discovered in the bush in McClintock Township.

The chemicals, including 18 five gallon drums, 24-500 millilitre bottles and one 80 ounce bottle, were located Saturday by people camping in the area. According to police the items had been hidden under a canopy of branches and boughs from surrounding trees. The authorities feel the chemicals were hidden away some time last autumn.

One of the chemicals retrieved from the cache was believed to be explosive in nature. It was kept under special conditions until Monday when the items were taken to Toronto for disposal.

Police said the names of the chemicals involved would not be released as a precautionary measure.

The matter was investigated by Constable Al Bibby.

Workmen from Gest Construction Company place plastic pipes in a trench along North Water Street. The pipe will carry Bell Telephone lines. The installation is part of an upgrading of rural phone service in the Minden area.

Gallery welcomes show from former Highlands resident

A real treat is in store for art lovers and connoisseurs when Cassandra Wyszowski brings her exhibition of Japanese brush painting to the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton September 2-20.

Born in Montreal but raised in Haliburton, Cassandra has had extensive training in Japanese and Chinese brush painting as well as watercolour painting all from Toronto artists.

She has also attended the New School of Art in Toronto.

In 1975, the official Christmas Card of the International Hockey League portrayed Cassandra's sketches. This card was sent to all countries participating in hockey.

Her work has previously been exhibited at the Japanese Cultural Centre in Toronto, the I.B.M. Annual Exhibit which has been held in the Bahamas, Quebec and Alberta, and was on display at Rails' End last year.

Cassandra has taught both Japanese Brush Painting and Watercolour for the Durham Board of Education and at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts in addition to private teaching.

Her works are held in private collection in Canada, the United States and England.

Notable notes at local TD branch

A display of bank notes from Toronto Dominion Bank's old money collection will be exhibited at its South Water Street branch beginning August 18.

The exhibit will be available for public viewing during regular bank hours: Monday to Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. An antique gold weighing scale will also be exhibited.

Bridge contracts awarded

A Dublin, Ontario construction company has been awarded a $516,878 contract for three bridge projects in the county. Looby Construction Limited will carry out the work starting next month.

According to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications the work will involve: grading, drainage, granular base, hot mix paving and structure work on the Mountain Lake bridge, Highway 35, south of Carnarvon; a concrete overlay on the Ox Narrows bridge, Highway 35, four miles north of the Hall's Lake Road; and structural repairs and waterproofing of the Drag Lake bridge, Highway 519, north of Gelert.

A Bailey bridge detour will be constructed at the Mountain Lake bridge work-site.

Work on all three projects is expected to be completed by mid-summer of next year.

Included in the two displays of over 25 old bank notes will be an 1857 $1 note from the City Bank, a $3 note issued by the Farmer's Joint Stock Banking Company in 1849, and a 1863 $1 note from St. Stephen's Bank and a $5 note issued by the Maritime Bank of the Dominion of Canada in 1881.

The displays illustrate the rapid evolution of money in Canada. The first paper money issued was "playing card" money, in common use for approximately 75 years in the colony of New France. Few examples of this money exist today, probably because retention after the redemption date was punishable by death.

Later, bank notes were issued by private bankers and merchants, predominantly in Lower Canada. During the pre-Confederation 1850's and 1860's, banks obtained charters and issued their own currencies.

The central bank, the Bank of Canada, was created in 1934 and given sole responsibility for the issue of paper currency in Canada.

In 1935, the first paper notes of the Bank of Canada were issued, with each denomination being bilingual for the first time. During the next 15 years the chartered banks were requested to decrease their notes by percentages. By 1950, in accordance with the program, chartered banks paid to the Bank of Canada sufficient funds to redeem the amount of their notes still in the hands of the public - over $13 million. The last note of the Bank of Toronto was issued in 1937 and the Dominion Bank

Toronto-Dominion Bank manager Al Mayo stands beside a collection of historical banknotes currently on display at the Minden branch. The display will be in the local branch until September 26.

issued its final note in 1938. Today, few people see anything but Bank of Canada notes except in collections or exhibits.

Commenting on the display, branch manager, Al Mayo said: "We are very pleased to bring this collection of old bank notes to Minden. I hope that many will get a chance to come into our branch and enjoy these fascinating examples of our past."

The exhibit will be on display until September 26.

Bert Shingler heads Black Lake group

The members of the Black Lake Property Owner's Association have re-elected Bert Shingler as their president. The selection of Mr. Shingler took place at the annual meeting held August 3.

During the course of the meeting Mr. Shingler brought the members up to date on a number of topics. He discussed the details of the closing and sale of 66 foot shore allowance and the terms being negotiated with the Ministry of Housing. Also on the agenda was a discussion of the new equalization factors and the impact they may have on cottagers. The concepts of limited service zoning was also discussed.

A common concern to all cottagers in the Highlands, pollution, was also on the agenda.

Shingler, who also serves on the executive of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations, reviewed the discussions taking place between that organization and the federal government with regard to the 66 foot shore allowance under federal control. FOCA is also making representation to the provincial government for a change in the municipal voting day to give cottagers a better chance to exercise their franchise.

In addition to the re-election of Mr. Shingler, Ben Cotterell was selected vice president and Dave Peirson is the secretary - treasurer. The members paid tribute to Mona Dean who stepped down as the association's secretary - treasurer. She has served the organization for a number of years.

Members are reminded of the corn roast and bar-b-que scheduled for Saturday, August 30.

MUNICIPAL ENUMERATION

Starting September 2, 1980, an enumerator, carrying a proper identification card, will call at your residence for a few minutes to check basic information required in determining:

- your eligibility to vote in the municipal and school board elections to be held on November 10 this year;
- the allocation of education property taxes between the public and separate school systems;
- the distribution of provincial grants to local governments to help reduce local tax bills;
- the preparation of jurors' lists; and
- population information needed for other municipal programs.

The enumerator must record such information as the name, age, property status (e.g. owner or tenant), school support and residency of all members of the household.

When the enumerator visits, please check that the information on the Enumeration Notice is correct. If it is not, revise it and verify the changes.

If you are not home, a Notice will be left for you. If changes are necessary, please make them and mail the Enumeration Notice, as soon as possible, in the pre-addressed postage prepaid envelope accompanying the Notice. For any additional information, please contact the local assessment office.

Nick Pawluch, left, recently received his commercial pilot's licence. Among the items presented to the flyer was a redecorated flying suit, held aloft by one of those in attendance.

Council provides backing

The curling club and recreation centre building committee has received the formal financial backing of the Minden council. The support came at the August 13 meeting in the form of a resolution.

The councillors agreed to provide up to $20,000 to cover financial cost incurred in the construction of the new building.

The new structure is to be built on land adjacent to the present recreation centre. It will replace the building now in use for curling. That structure has been deemed unsafe for winter use by the Ontario Ministry of Labour.

OMB approval

After lengthy delays and deliberations by various government departments at the provincial level, the Burns subdivision on Bobcaygeon Road North has been approved.

Notice of the approval was received by Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council at their regular meeting August 13. The approval came from the Ontario Municipal Board.

According to Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, it has been six years since the subdivision was first proposed.

Work on the new development started almost as soon as permission to proceed was received from the OMB.

The subdivision will contain 12 lots and is located just south of the Scotch Line Road west.

Cottagers asked to help with cost of new road signs

The signs will stay, at least for the moment, unless someone can come up with the cash needed to replace them.

That was the gist of a letter received by Lutterworth Township Council Thursday evening from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. The MTC was responding to a request relayed by the council from the cottage owners on Denna Lake that the finger boards on Highway 121, indicating the name of the lake, be changed to a concession sign. The property owners had made the request at last month's meeting in the hopes it would help eliminate the break-ins and vandalism which they have been experiencing. The group felt that if strangers did not realize there was a lake at the end of the road, they would be unlikely to travel on it.

According to the MTC however, the present signs with "Denna Lake" written on them, are in good condition. Because of this the ministry is not about to spend $56.82 to replace them.

Councillor Al Stott suggested that the council ask the property owners to foot the bill if they want the signs changed. He said if the township paid for this change, other associations might seek similar changes. "We don't want to start something," the councillor stated.

The council agreed to send a copy of the MTC letter to the lake property association with the suggestion that they consider meeting the expense of having the signs changed.

Classics of Log Homes

Each home is carefully preassembled within our modern factory from solid, seasoned white pine. 1867 standards of engineering and workmanship are unequalled.

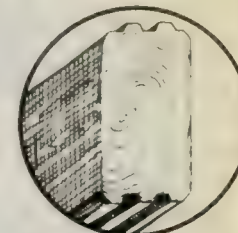

DOVETAIL CORNER

Traditionally correctly designed dovetail as introduced to North America in the 1700's tightens with age and repels water. 1867 dovetail corner should not be confused with the furniture dovetail presently being used by other log home manufacturers. The beauty and precision of these dovetail corners offer the owner true satisfaction.

TRIPLE TONGUE & GROOVE DESIGNED LOG

One of the deepest tongue & grooves available. 1867 Confederation Log Homes are designed with unique pressure points that when sealed with our exclusive hypalon rubber, create a double air lock. Square timbered white pine log in 6 x 12 or 8 x 12.

SPLICE

This unparalleled design is exclusive of 1867 and will permit absolutely no heat loss through the end joining of logs. Separation of joined logs is virtually impossible.

We welcome the opportunity to custom design a log home especially for you at Highland Gate Estates. The choice of an 1867 Confederation Log Home will enhance your lifestyle for many years to come.

During the summer on Mondays Susan Redner has been spending some time at Minden Library in the morning for crafts and story time; we appreciate your coming Susan, and also are thankful for the services of our page Greg Brown, who comes whenever he is needed.

Sorry to report that Bill Kerr, a summer resident at Hall's Lake for many years and friend of many, died recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burton are home after a week at Pontiac, Michigan, where they also attended a wedding.

New arrivals are a baby girl, a first for Carol and Chris Miles and a baby girl for Ann and John Hewson; congrats to all.

Marjorie Cook (Cookie) a former resident, now of Scarborough spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Stewart.

Wedding bells were ringing on Saturday with congratulations going to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Russell (nee Luanne Cowan).

Weekend guests with Lilian and George Davidson were Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDonald and Gwen and Paul Davidson all of Thornbury.

Their friends send good wishes to these people who are in hospital or have come home from there, Harry M. Cowan, Minnie Austen, Arnold Richardson, Reta Hodgkinson, and Bill Elcome.

Lynn and Wayne Cox and Dana Hughes were at Mississauga for the weekend and attended the Kenny Rogers show.

Miss Leta Sanders of Havlock, spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cooper and also visited many of her former friends and pupils as she was teacher here many years ago.

Carol Beers of Cambridge and her daughter Linda Cooper and girls of B.C. were visiting with relatives in the area.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Alice Pogue, Vinton Loucks, Martha Kernohan and Ralph Scott whose funerals were this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Purkiss of Beaverton spent some time with the Ern Voyceys and also other relatives as well.

We hear that there was a lively Family Picnic on Sunday at Soyers Lake and the crowd were the family of Walter Welch.

On the draw on Saturday at Stedmans Store for the B & W Television, congrats to Mrs. Mason of Cosy Cabins, who was the lucky winner.

Within my earthly temple, there's a crowd: There's one that's humble, one that's proud; There's one that's broken-hearted for his sins, There's one that, unrepentant, sits and grins. There's one that loves his neighbour as himself, There's one that care for naught but fame and pelf: From much corroding care I would be free, If I could determine which is me.

E.S. Martin

Weekend guests with Mrs. Ern Hewitt were Colin of Toronto and Dr. Neil Hewitt of Carleton Place, the Fred Hewitts and the Alec Beatties of Toronto area.

Fern Brezner of Kapuskasing is visiting this week with her mother, Irene Stamp.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well the honeymoon is over, our gang is back home. Did those two weeks ever go fast.

The Roodenburgs have had Steve Willems up for the weekend and Bill's brother Teinus Roodenburg is over from Holland and is staying until Friday.

Scott Wilson has been up visiting his grandparents, the Dunsfords, for a week.

This is the last week for films and crafts at the Library, so all you little ones do come and see us. We'll be looking for you.

So sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Pogue. Our sympathy and prayers are with her family.

They are not lost, our well-beloved, Nor have they travelled far— Just stepped inside God's Loveliest room, And left the door ajar.

Mrs. Mary Oster fell on Saturday evening and broke her kneecap. She was sent to St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto then sent on to her own home which is in Toronto.

Heard the Thompson boy had an accident on Highway 121. His car went out of control and landed in the ditch where it started to burn. Luckily his passenger pulled him out of the car as he was unconscious. Sure hope they are not too badly injured.

Juergen Noetzel has been up to his cottage for a week. His wife wasn't feeling too well so couldn't come.

Gord Darvey and Frank Dunsford went fishing up at the east River for the weekend. They had quite a good catch, so will be having a fish fry.

Hint of the week

There's a bee in the house— If a wasp or bee gets into the house, reach for the hairspray. Most insect sprays only infuriate them, but the hairspray stiffens their wings, immobilizing them immediately. This works on all winged insects.

You believe that easily which you hope for earnestly.

Mrs. Lil Porter had her grandson Pvt. John Porter staying with her for a week. They visited with friends and relatives in the area.

Bye for now. Take it easy. Good bless till next time.

PLEASE COME EVERYONE

We began the week with fun and fitness Monday morning. After the session, a few residents went for a walk with Mrs. Jean Sweatman and thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful weather.

Later in the afternoon, the ladies went downstairs to work on their projects in the craft room.

In the evening, it was movie time in the auditorium. "How Jerry Got Smarter" was in cartoon form. It told us how you can be taken in by the sales pitch given us by door to door salesmen. The new business and consumer laws now protect the purchaser.

"The Final Ingredient" dealt with health care and the proper administering of drugs. It told us the importance of taking medication as prescribed. We also saw how drugs are made, tested and packaged for the consumer.

"Golden Harvest" was a very interesting and colourful film. It took us to the central valleys of California where Cling Peaches are grown. There are 50,000 acres of trees, and the sight is breathtaking during blossom time. We saw the process of canning the fruit where 90,000 people are employed.

"Across the City and Into the Trees" was filmed in Gatineau Park, 20 miles from Parliament Hill. The park is the home of the blue heron, and is filled with Canadian wildlife. 2 million people visit each year to enjoy the beauty of nature in Gatineau Park. Our residents found all the movies very interesting.

Tuesday morning, Rev. David Barker held service in the chapel. Mrs. Agnes Taylor accompanied us on the organ while we sang some spiritual hymns. In the afternoon several residents gathered in the lounge for a game of Bingo. We had a number of lucky winners of tokens which can be cashed in at The Tuck Shop. The Hyland Crest Auxiliary staff the Tuck Shop several times each week. This shop provides incidentals at a minimal cost to add to the resident's comfort.

The ladies of the Harcourt Community Chapel brought a variety of sandwiches and goodies for the Thursday Tea Party. Our residents thoroughly enjoyed the delicious food and visiting with these lovely ladies.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. Grace Coburn accompanied by Fred Ballard on the piano led the sing song. We joined with Grace to sing many favorite hymns and songs.

I would like to encourage those who have family and friends living at Hyland Crest to visit regularly or to take them out to happenings in the community. Our aim is to help make life as pleasant and homelike as possible for the residents. Alone, we cannot accomplish this, with your help we can be much more successful in making this a reality.
